PA817 C3 1881 PREFACE. MAN

It is believed that there are many persons (some of them students in theology) unacquainted with the Greek language, and with neither time nor inclination for the study of classical Greek literature, who would nevertheless be glad to read the New Testament in its original tongue. For the aid of such, this little work has been prepared. It contains what is absolutely necessary for the understanding of New Testament Greek, omitting (or occasionally introducing in brackets) what is applicable only to classical authors. Not that a familiarity with this book alone will enable one to read offhand the Greek New Testament without further assistance; but he who has faithfully studied this "Introduction" will then be in a situation to make use of more elaborate works. Perhaps the most helpful book to the beginner is "Bagster's Analytical Greek Lexicon," too helpful if mental discipline is sought, but not if one's only aim is to economize time and labor. To the advanced student (supposed to be already in possession of some good New Testament Lexicon), Buttmann's "Grammar of the New Testament Greek" (or Winer's "Grammar of the Idiom of the New Testament") is almost indispensable.

Notwithstanding the very elementary character of the following lessons, they presume in the learner an acquaintance with the fundamental principles of English grammar; only that which is peculiar to the Greek has been explained.

As very few inflected words occur in all their parts in the New Testament, different words have often been introduced into the same paradigm; therefore the student will probably find it best to memorize in order only the terminations. In the "Appendix" is a uniform paradigm of the regular verb, which will be found convenient for reference; also a tabular view of the endings of nouns.

Prior to publication, these lessons have been used with several classes in the "Meadville Theological School," and seem to have answered the purpose for which they were designed. Those familiar with them have been able to proceed at once (with the assistance above referred to) to the reading of the easier portions of the New Testament.

To Professor Ezra Abbot, of Harvard University, I am much indebted for assistance in the revision of proof-sheets and for valuable suggestions which have contributed to the completeness and accuracy of the work.

Rem. a. When is written under another vowel, thus, a, it is called iota subscript.

Rem. b. Most editors use the character s at the end of words, instead of σ .

2. Pronunciation.

Rem. a. Although there is a lack of agreement among scholars as to the best pronunciation of Greek, the tendency in this country is decidedly towards the adoption of what is called the "Continental" method, the essential features of which are presented in the following Remarks.

Rem. b. a has the sound of a in father. At the end of an unaccented syllable * it is usually obscure, like the a in penalty, except at the end of a word. Before consonants in the same syllable it is usually short, like a in hat. The diphthong a is pronounced like ai in aisle, and av like ou in house.

Rem. c. γ is always hard, like g in give. Before κ , γ , χ , ξ , it has the sound of ng.

Rem. d. e is pronounced like e in get, et like ei in height.

Rem. e. n is pronounced like a in fate.

Rem. f. θ has the sound of th in thin.

Rem. g. ι has the sound of i in machine, except before a consonant in the same syllable, where it is pronounced like i in pin.

Rem. h. & has the force of ks.

Rem. i. o is usually sounded like o in not, but at the end of a syllable it approximates to the o in note. The diphthong ov has the sound of oo in moon; or does not differ from the English oi.

Rem. j. v and ev are to be sounded like ew in few, ve like we.

Rem. k. Few persons distinguish in pronunciation between x ^{*} Syllables are divided, as far as possible, according to English analogy.

and κ , but it is better to give χ the sound of the German ch (as it is pronounced after a, o, u) and the Spanish j.

Rem. l. w has the sound of o in note.

Rem. m. The diphthongs a, η, φ (for $\bar{a}\iota, \eta\iota, \omega\iota$) are pronounced like a, η, ω .

Rem. n. The names of the letters of the alphabet (given on page 1) are to be pronounced according to the foregoing rules.

3. Punctuation, Breathings, and Accents.

Rem. a. The marks of punctuation peculiar to the Greek are the colon $[\cdot]$ and the mark of interrogation $[\cdot]$.

Rem. b. The rough breathing ['] before or above a vowel at the beginning of a word has the force of h; the smooth breathing ['] only indicates the absence of aspiration.

Rem. c. The breathings are also used, in certain cases, with the consonant ρ ; but no distinction is now made, in pronunciation, between $\hat{\rho}$ and $\hat{\rho}$.

Rem. d. The accents ['acute, 'grave, `circumflex] indicate on what syllables the stress of voice is to be laid. The grave accent is found only on final syllables, where it regularly takes the place of the acute in continued discourse, and indicates that the syllable, while the word stands in that position, has a softened tone.

Rem. e. Very few of these marks of discrimination are found in the older manuscripts. Modern editors punctuate according to their own judgment.

4. Classification of the Consonants.

Rem. a. The consonants are divided, with reference to the organs chiefly concerned in their production, into labials (π, β, ϕ, μ) , linguals $(\tau, \delta, \theta, \zeta, \sigma, \lambda, \nu, \rho)$, and palatals (κ, γ, χ) . The double consonants, ξ and ψ , are virtually included in this classification, being equivalent respectively to $\kappa\sigma$ and $\pi\sigma$.

Rem. b. λ , μ , ν , ρ , are also called liquids.

Rem. c. The mutes are divided into smooth (π, κ, τ) , middle (β, γ, δ) , and rough (ϕ, χ, θ) . Those produced by the same organs (for instance the labials π, β, ϕ) are called cognate.

§ 1. A verb ending in ω ,* in the present, indicative, active.

πιστεύω, I believe. (Mark ix. 24.) πιστεύεις, thou believest. (Acts xxvi. 27.) πιστεύει, he believes. (John xii. 44.) † πιστεύομεν, we believe. (John iv. 42.) πιστεύετε, you believe. (John iii. 12.) πιστεύουσι(ν), they believe. (John xvi. 9.)

Rem. a. The present tense, in all its modes, represents an action or state as continued or repeated.

Rem. b. The unchangeable part of an inflected word (for example, πιστευ in the verb πιστεύω) is called the stem.

Rem. c. The terminations appended to the stems of verbs indicate the person and number of the subject.

Rem. d. Verbs in the third person ending in $\sigma\iota\nu$ and $\epsilon\nu$ (with a few exceptions) may drop the ν before a consonant.

§ 2. The personal pronouns, in the nominative case.‡

ἐγὼ ἔχω, I have. (Matt. iii. 14.)
σὐ ἔχεις, thou hast. (Rom. xiv. 22.) §
ἡμεῖς ἔχομεν, we have. (John. xix. 7.)
ὑμεῖς ἔχετε, you have. (John xvi. 22.)

Rem. A personal pronoun, when expressed as the subject of a verb, is usually, if not always, emphatic.

^{*} Most Greek verbs end in ω in the first pers. sing. of the pres. ind. act.

[‡] See § 63.

[§] The context alone can determine whether a verb in the ind. mode is declarative or interrogative. In the present passage, the T. R. punctuates interrogatively.

II.

§ 3. Verbs in $-\omega$, in the imperfect, indicative, active.

ἔλεγον, † I said, or was saying. (2 Thess. ii. 5.)
εἶχες, thou hadst. (John xix. 11.) ‡ ἐπίστενεν, [he] § trusted. (John ii. 24.) *
εἴχομεν, we had. (Heb. xii. 9.)
ἐπιστεύετε, you believed. (John v. 46.)
ἐπίστενον, they believed. (John xii. 37.)

Rem. a. The imperfect tense represents an action or state as continued or repeated in past time, and may often be rendered into English by was and the present participle. In conditional sentences it may refer to present time: e. y. ϵl $\gamma \dot{\alpha} \rho$ $\dot{\epsilon} m \iota \sigma \tau \dot{\epsilon} \dot{\nu} \dot{\epsilon} \dot{\alpha} \dot{\nu}$ $\dot{\epsilon} \mu \dot{\alpha} l$, for if you believed Moses, you would believe me. (John v. 46.)

Rem. b. The imperfect tense sometimes has a conative force, indicating only the attempt to perform an action. Thus in Acts vii. 26, συνήλλασσεν αὐτοὺς εἰς εἰρήνην is to be rendered he endeavored to reconcile them and not he reconciled or was reconciling them. Even the present tense occasionally has this conative force: e. g. λιθάζετε, John x. 32.

^{*} For the meanings of words not already defined, see the "Vocabulary" at the end of the book. In accordance with the general custom, the Greek verbs are there given in the first pers. of the pres. ind., and their English equivalents in the infinitive.

[†] Whenever, in Lessons II. – XXXIII., other verbs are substituted for $\pi\iota\sigma\tau\epsilon\dot{\nu}\omega$ as examples of the inflection of verbs in $-\omega$, the learner is to understand that the corresponding forms of $\pi\iota\sigma\tau\epsilon\dot{\nu}\omega$ are not found in the N. T.

[‡] The second pers. sing, and the first pers. pl. of the imperf. ind. act. are of exceedingly rare occurrence in the N. T. Tischendorf's text has $\xi \chi \epsilon \iota s$ in this passage.

[§] Pronouns in brackets represent subjects which are expressed in the context. For example, in the present passage, the text says ${}^{\prime}$ I $\eta\sigma o \hat{v}\hat{s}$ $\hat{\epsilon}\pi l \sigma \tau \epsilon v \epsilon \nu$, Jesus trusted.

Rem. c. The vowel ϵ (rarely η), prefixed in certain past tenses to verbs beginning with a consonant, is called the syllabic augment. In verbs beginning with ρ , the ρ is usually doubled after the augment. The few exceptions to the doubling of the ρ all occur in other tenses than the imperfect, and but a single case is found outside the epistles.

Rem. d. Verbs beginning with a vowel usually have (in the tenses above referred to) a temporal augment, obtained by lengthening the vowel, a and ϵ becoming η (ϵ sometimes $\epsilon \iota$) and σ becoming ω . Thus akov ω becomes in the imperf. Theorem.

 - ¹ The context shows the gender of the subject to be feminine.
 - ² The subject is plural.

III.

§ 4. Verbs in $-\omega$, in the future, indicative, active.

πιστεύσω, I shall, or will, believe. (John xx. 25.) λατρεύσεις, thou shalt serve. (Matt. iv. 10). τίς πιστεύσεις: who will intrust? (Luke xvi. 11.) πιστεύσομεν,* we will believe. (Matt. xxvii. 42.) πιστεύσουσεν, [they] will believe. (John iii. 12.) πιστεύσουσεν, [they] will believe. (John xi. 48.)

Rem. a. The consonant which, in several tenses, stands between the stem and the personal vowel-endings, is called the tense characteristic. It is not found in all verbs.

ἔξεις, thou shalt, or wilt, have. (Matt. xix. 21.) γράψω, I will write. (Rev. iii. 12.)

Rem. b. The double consonant ξ may originate in any of the three combinations, $\kappa\sigma$, $\gamma\sigma$, $\chi\sigma$; the double consonant ψ , in $\pi\sigma$, $\beta\sigma$, $\phi\sigma$. Thus $\xi\chi\sigma\epsilon\iota$ s becomes $\xi\xi\epsilon\iota$ s, and $\gamma\rho\dot{\alpha}\phi\sigma\omega$ becomes $\gamma\rho\dot{\alpha}\psi\omega$.

^{*} This is the reading of the T. R., from which Tisch. differs.

Rem. c. The aspiration of the ϵ in the future of $\xi \chi \omega$ is merely a relic of the σ with which the root of the verb once commenced.

τηρήσω, I shall, or will, keep. (2 Cor. xi. 9.)

Rem. d. When the last letter of the root of a verb is a short vowel, it is usually lengthened in all tenses except the present and the imperfect. Thus from $\tau\eta\rho\epsilon\omega$ we have the future $\tau\eta\rho\dot{\eta}\sigma\omega$.

TRANSLATE

1. βασιλεύσει. (Luke i. 33.) 2. ἀκούσετε. (Matt. xiii. 14.) 3. ἀκούσουσιν. (John x. 16.) 4. λατρεύσουσιν. (Acts vii. 7.) 5. βασιλεύσουσιν. (Rev. xx. 6.) 6. πῶς δὲ πιστεύσουσιν; (Rom. x. 14.) 7. ἐτρέχετε καλῶς. (Gal. v. 7.) 8. τηρήσει. (John xiv. 23.) 9. λατρεύουσιν. (Rev. vii. 15.) 10. ἐγὼ τρέχω. (1 Cor. ix. 26.)

IV.

§ 5. A verb in $-\omega$, in the agrist, indicative, active.

έπίστευσα, I believed. (2 Cor. iv. 13.) ἐπίστευσας, thou believedst. (Matt. viii. 13.) ἐπίστευσεν, he believed. (John iv. 53.) ἐπιστεύσαμεν, we believed, or became believers. (Rom. xiii. 11.) ἐπιστεύσατε, you believed. (Matt. xxi. 32.) ἐπίστευσαν, they believed. (John ii. 22.)

Rem. a. The agrist indicative denotes simply the past occurrence of an action or state; but it sometimes has the force of the English perfect or pluperfect. In the dependent modes, except in indirect discourse, the distinction of time between the present and the agrist disappears.

 $Rem.\ b.$ The imperfect and agrist tenses are the only ones which regularly take the augment.

§ 6. Nouns, with the article, in the nominative singular.

ὁ πατὴρ ἔλεγεν, the father said. (Mark ix. 24.)
 λέγει ἡ μήτηρ, the mother says. (John ii. 3.)
 ἔλαμψεν τὸ πρόσωπον, the face shone. (Matt. xvii. 2.)

Rem. The article is inflected to indicate gender, number, and case, and must agree in these respects with the noun which it limits. The form \dot{o} is masculine, $\dot{\eta}$ feminine, and $\tau \dot{o}$ neuter.*

TRANSLATE

1. ἤκουσας. (John xi. 41.) 2. ἤκουσα. (John viii. 40.) 3. ἦκούσαμεν. (Luke xxii. 71.) 4. ἤκουσαν. (Luke ii. 20.) 5. ἤκουσεν. (Luke xv. 25.) 6. ἦκούσατε. (Matt. xxvi. 65.) 7. ἔγραψα. (Rom. xv. 15.) 8. ἔγραψεν. (Mark x. 5.) 9. ἐγράψατε. (1 Cor. vii. 1.) 10. λάμπει. (Matt. v. 15.)

V.

§ 7. Verbs in $-\omega$, in the perfect, indicative, active.

πεπίστευκα, I have believed, or put trust in. (2 Tim. i. 12.) πεπίστευκας, thou hast believed. (John xx. 29.) πεπίστευκεν, he has believed. (John iii. 18.) ήμεῖς πεπιστεύκαμεν, we have believed. (John vi. 69.) ὑμεῖς πεπιστεύκατε, you have believed. (John xvi. 27.) τετηρήκασι(ν), they have kept. (John xvii. 6.)

Rem. a. The termination of the third person plural is sometimes $a\nu$ instead of $a\sigma\iota(\nu)$.

Rem. b. In the perfect and pluperfect tenses, whenever the root begins with a consonant (other than ρ , ζ , ξ , ψ) followed by a vowel or a liquid, a special kind of augment called the reduplication is generally prefixed to the root. This consists of the first letter of the verb (or, if this is a rough mute, its corresponding smooth) followed by ϵ . In other cases, these tenses simply take the usual augment. There are one or two instances, though not in the T. R., of reduplication in verbs beginning with ρ .

§ 8. Nouns of the first declension, in the nominative singular.

ή δόξα καὶ ή σοφία καὶ ή τιμή, glory and wisdom and honor. (Rev. vii. 12.)

^{*} In the Vocabulary, the gender of nouns is indicated by the article placed after them.

'Ηλείας,* Elias, or Elijah. (Matt. xi. 14.)
'Ιούδας, Judas. (Mark xiv. 10.)
δ δεσπότης, Master! or Lord! (Rev. vi. 10.)

Rem. a. Greek nouns are classed together, according to similarity of inflection, into three declensions.

Rem. b. Nouns of the first declension are either masculine, ending in as or ηs , or feminine, ending in a or η .

Rem. c. In the N. T., nouns in as of the first declension are, with one or two exceptions, proper names.

Rem. d. Abstract nouns and nominatives used in address often take the article, which must, of course, be omitted in translation.

§ 9. Verbs in -ω, in the pluperfect, indicative, active.

ήδειν,† I knew. (John i. 31.) ήδεις,† thou knewest. (Matt. xxv. 26.) δς περιπεπατήκει, who had walked. (Acts xiv. 8.)‡ [ἐβεβουλεύκειμεν, we had advised.] ήδειτε;† knew ye? (Luke ii. 49.) πεπιστεύκεισαν, they had believed. (Acts xiv. 23.)

Rem. a. The augment of a verb is seldom and the reduplication never affected by prefixing a preposition to the verb.

Rem. b. In classical Greek, the pluperfect tense usually takes, if possible, the syllabic augment in addition to the reduplication; but in

^{*} In the T. R. 'Halas.

[†] From the irregular verb $\epsilon l \delta \omega$, whose pluperfect has the force of an imperfect. See § 46, Rem. b.

[†] Tisch. reads περιεπάτησεν.

N. T. Greek this is rare. In Acts xiv. 8, the Elzevir text reads $\pi\epsilon\rho\iota\epsilon\pi\epsilon$ $\pi\alpha\tau\dot{\eta}\kappa\epsilon\iota$.

Rem. c. Verbs whose roots end in a smooth or middle labial or palatal (see p. 3, 4, Rem. a) have the rough breathing instead of κ for the tense characteristic of the perfect and pluperfect tenses, the consonant combining with the breathing to form the corresponding rough mute.

§ 10. Nouns of the first declension, in the genitive singular, with and without the article.

τῆς δόξης, of glory. (Acts vii. 2.) σοφίας, of wisdom. (Acts. vi. 3.) τιμῆς, of honor. (1 Tim. v. 17.) 'Ηλείου, of Elias. (Luke iv. 25.)* 'Ιούδα, of Judas. (Mark vi. 3.) τοῦ προφήτου, of the prophet. (Luke iii. 4.)

Rem. a. In translating the genitive case, we are frequently obliged to supply certain prepositions, particularly of. This circumlocution may often be avoided by the use of the possessive case, to which the genitive in many respects corresponds.

Rem. b. Nouns of the first declension ending in a vowel commonly have their genitive in $-\eta s$; but those in $-\alpha$ pure (i. e. $-\alpha$ preceded by a vowel), and usually those in $-\rho \alpha$, retain the α throughout the singular number. So also does $\mu \nu \hat{\alpha}$, contracted from $\mu \nu \dot{\alpha} \alpha$.

Rem. c. Nouns of the first declension in -as not pure form the genitive in -a. Some proper names in - η s have their genitive in - η , but these were not originally Greek words.

Rem. d. Contrary to the rule (Rem. b) Má $\rho\theta\alpha$ has for its genitive Má $\rho\theta\alpha$ s, and, in some of the best MSS., the genitive of $\Lambda \dot{\nu} \delta \delta \alpha$ is $\Lambda \dot{\nu} \delta \delta \alpha$ s; but these nouns are from the Hebrew. See § 43.

§ 11. Verbs in $-\omega$, in the present, subjunctive, active.

τί λέγω; what shall I say? or, why should I say? (Heb. xi. 32.) έὰν* προσφέρης, if thou bringest. (Matt. v. 23.)

δs åν * πιστεύη, whoever shall believe. (Mark xi. 23.)

ΐνα λέγωμεν, that we say, or, to say. (2 Cor. ix. 4.)

καν* πιστεύητε, even if, or though, you believe. (John x. 38.)+

öταν* λέγωσιν, when they say, are saying, or shall say. (1 Thess. v. 3.)

Rem. a. Actions and states expressed in the subjunctive mode are simply conceived of as possible, not affirmed to be real.

Rem. b. In some respects, this mode corresponds to the English potential and subjunctive modes; yet it must very often be translated by the indicative, infinitive, or imperative.

Rem. c. In the various tenses of the subjunctive mode, the element of time is subordinate to that of manner, and, in dependent sentences, is determined by the time of the leading verb. Cf. § 1, Rem. α .

§ 12. Nouns of the first declension, in the dative singular, with and without the article.

δόξη καὶ τιμῆ, with glory and honor. (Heb. ii. 7.)

ἐν τῆ σοφία, in wisdom. (Luke ii. 52.)

'Ιούδα, to Judas. (John xiii. 26.)

 $\tau\hat{\varphi}$ $\delta\epsilon\sigma\pi\acute{o}\tau\eta$, to, or for, the master. (2 Tim. ii. 21.)

Rem. a. In translating the dative case, we must often supply prepositions, particularly to, for, and with.

Rem. b. In some MSS. Ἰωάννει is found, instead of Ἰωάννη, as the dative of Ἰωάννης.

- ¹ Notice the difference in accent and position between τίς interrogative and τις indefinite. The latter never stands at the beginning of a sentence.
 - 2 The first person of the subjunctive is often used in exhortations.
- 3 The context shows that this should be translated by the potential mode, using the auxiliary may.

VIII.

§13. A verb in -\omega, in the agrist, subjunctive, active.

ΐνα πιστεύσω, that I may believe. (John ix. 36.) ἐὰν πιστεύσης, if thou believest. (John xi. 40.) ῗνα πιστεύση, that [it] may believe. (John xvii. 21.) ἕνα πιστεύσωμεν, that we may believe. (Mark xv. 32.) μη πιστεύσητε, believe not. (Matt. xxiv. 23.) ἕνα πιστεύσωσεν, that they might believe. (John xi. 42.)

Rem. On the agrist subjunctive, see § 5, Rem. a, and § 11, Rem. a, b, c.

§ 14. Nouns of the first declension, in the accusative singular, with and without the article.

δόξαν και τιμήν, glory and honor. (Rev. iv. 9.) τὴν σοφίαν, the wisdom. (Luke xi. 31.) Ἡλείαν, Elias. (Matt. xvi. 14.) Ἰούδαν, Judas. (Mark iii. 19.) τὸν δεσπότην, the master. (Jude 4.)

Rem. The Greek accusative case does not differ essentially in its uses from the English objective.

§ 15. Nouns of the first declension, in the vocative singular.

'Ιούδα, Judas! (Luke xxii. 48.) δέσποτα, Master! or Lord! (Luke ii. 29.)

Rem. The vocative case is used in exclamation and address. In the plural number, and sometimes in the singular, the nominative form is used for the vocative.

1 The context calls for the auxiliary will or would.

IX.

§ 16. Verbs in $-\omega$, in the present, optative, active.

[βουλεύοιμ, I might advise.]
[βουλεύοις, thou mightest advise.]
πρίν έχοι, before he has. (Acts xxv. 16.)
[βουλεύοιμεν, we might advise.]
εὶ πάσχοιτε, if you suffer. (1 Peter iii. 14.)
εὶ έχοιεν, if they had. (Acts xxiv. 19.)

Rem. a. The fundamental idea of the optative mode does not differ from that of the subjunctive; but the conceptions of the former are more subjective, looking less to outward realization than those of the latter.

Rem. b. In the optative as in the subjunctive mode, tense distinctions have comparatively little to do with the indication of time, which, in dependent sentences, is determined by the leading verb.

Rem. c. This mode is rarely used by the N. T. writers.

§ 17. Nouns of the first declension, in the plural number, with the article.

N. al ἀμαρτίαι, the sins. (Matt. ix. 2.)

G. των αμαρτιών, of our sins. (Col. i. 14.)

D. ται̂s ἀμαρτίαιs, to our sins. (1 Peter ii. 24.)

A. τàs àμαρτίαs, the sins. (Heb. ii. 17.)

N. oi προφηται, the prophets. (Matt. vii. 12.)

G. των προφητών, of the prophets. (Matt. xvi. 14.)

D. τοις προφήταις, to the prophets. (Luke vi. 23.)

A. τοὺς προφήτας, the prophets. (Matt. v. 17.)

Rem. The article often has the force of a possessive pronoun, whose person and number must be determined from the context.

^{*} The T. R. reads δ 'I $\eta\sigma\sigma\hat{v}$'s. It is not uncommon for proper names to take the article.

$19. Nouns of the second declension, with the article.

Singular.

N. δ [ή] ἄνθρωπος.* (Matt. xii. 35.)

τὸ ἔργον. (Rom. xi. 6.)

G. τοῦ [τῆς] ἀνθρώπου. (Matt. viii. 20.) D. $\tau \hat{\varphi} [\tau \hat{\eta}] \dot{a}\nu \theta \rho \dot{\omega} \pi \varphi$. (Matt. xviii. 7.)

Α. τὸν [τὴν] ἄνθρωπον. (Matt. xv. 11.)

τὸ ἔργον. (Mark xiii. 34.)

V.

άνθρωπε. (Rom. ii. 1.)

· Plural.

N. -οί [ai] ἄνθρωποι. (Luke vi. 26.)

τὰ ἔργα. (John iii. 19.)

G. των ἀνθρώπων. (Matt. v. 13.)

τῶν ἔργων. (Heb. iv. 3.)

D. τοις [ταις] ἀνθρώποις. (Matt. vi. 5.) τοις έργοις. (John x. 38.)

A. τους [τὰς] ἀνθρώπους. (Luke vii. 31.) τὰ ἔργα. (Matt. v. 16.)

Rem. a. Nouns of the second declension end regularly in os and ov. exceptionally in ws. Those in -ov are of the neuter gender; the rest are either masculine, feminine, or common.

^{* &}quot;Aνθρωποs is of the com. gender, though found in the N. T. with the masc. article only.

Rem. b. The oblique cases of those in - ω s all end in ω [the D. in φ], the A. having also a form in - ω v. The A. $\dot{\alpha}\nu\dot{\omega}\gamma\epsilon\omega$ (T. R. Mark xiv. 15, Luke xxii. 12) has, in classical Greek, nominatives in ω v and ω s.

Rem. c. In John xix. 36, δστοῦν is a contraction from δστέον.

Rem. d. From vbos has arisen, by contraction, voûs (1 Cor. xiv. 14), which, however, is inflected after the analogy of the third declension, thus: G. voós (Rom. vii. 23), D. vot (Rom. xiv. 5), A. voûv (Luke xxiv. 45). The forms $\pi\lambda$ oós (Acts xxvii. 9) and $\pi\lambda$ oûv (Acts xxi. 7) also point to a nominative $\pi\lambda$ oûs = $\pi\lambda$ óos.

Rem. e. In neuters, whether of the second or third declension, the accusative is always like the nominative and in the plural ends in α .

1. ἐξουσίαν ἔχει ὁ νίὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου¹ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς. (Matt. ix. 6.) 2. δ δὲ νίὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου οὐκ ἔχει ποῦ τὴν κεφαλὴν κλίνη. (Matt. viii. 20.) 3. καὶ λέγουσιν · ἰδοὺ ἄνθρωπος φάγος² καὶ οἰνοπότης, τελωνῶν φίλος καὶ ἀμαρτωλῶν. (Matt. xi. 19.) 4. λέγει τῷ ἀνθρώπῳ. (Matt. xii. 13.) 5. οὐ γὰρ βλέπεις εἰς πρόσωπον ἀνθρώπων,³ ἀλλ² ⁴ ἐπ² ⁴ ἀληθείας ⁵ τὴν ὁδὸν τοῦ θεοῦ ⁵ διδάσκεις. (Mark xii. 14.) 6. τὰ ἔργα τοῦ θεοῦ. (John vi. 28.) 7. τὰ μνημεῖα τῶν προφητῶν. Nouns used in their widest comprehension, or in a generic sense, may take the article.

2 In translating the words ἄνθρωπος φάγος, we may either insert a relative phrase, thus: a man [who is] a glutton, or we may drop the word man and say simply a glutton.

³ ἀνθρώπων may be translated either of men or men's; but if the former rendering is used, an article must be supplied with πρόσωπον.

4 Final short vowels, except \breve{v} , may be elided, when the next word begins with a vowel. This elision is indicated by an apostrophe in the place of the vowel.

⁵ In connection with dληθείας we cannot translate επί literally, but we may render the two words by the equivalent adverb truly, or the phrase of a truth.

6 To distinguish Jehovah from the heathen deities, he was called ô θεός, THE god, and sometimes ô θεὸς τῶν θεῶν, the god of the gods, or the supreme god. See Ps. cxxxvi. 2 (in the Septuagint cxxxv. 2).

XII.

§ 20. Verbs in -0, in the present, imperative, active.

πίστενε, believe (thou). (Mark v. 36.) βασιλενέτω, let [it] reign. (Rom. vi. 12.) πιστεύετε, believe (ye). (Mark i. 15.) δουλενέτωσαν, let them serve. (1 Tim. vi. 2.)

Rem. General precepts commonly take the form of the present imperative, while particular commands are put in the aorist (imperative or subjunctive), in accordance with the usual distinction between these tenses. There is no distinction in point of time between the present and the aorist imperative.

§ 21. The third declension of nouns.

Rem. α . To the third declension belong all nouns which have one more syllable in the genitive than in the nominative. They are of all genders and have a great variety of endings.

Rem. b. The true stem, in nouns of this declension, is usually to be sought in the genitive case, having undergone some euphonic change in the nominative.

\S 22. Nouns of the third declension with the genitive ending $\alpha \tau \sigma s$.

ώματα. (1 Cor. vi. 13.)
ωμάτων. (1 Tim. iv. 3.)
ώμασι(ν.) (1 Cor. vi. 13
ύματα. (Matt. xiv. 15.)

. Rem. a. All nouns belonging here are neuter.

Rem. b. They end either in a, ap (only $\phi \rho \epsilon a \rho$), as, v (only $\gamma \delta \nu v$), or $\omega \rho$ (only $v \delta \omega \rho$).

Rem. c. In Rom. xiv. 21 and 1 Cor. viii. 13, we find the acc. pl. of $\kappa\rho\epsilon$ as contracted, by syncope, to $\kappa\rho\epsilon$ a.

Rem. d. As the dat. of $\gamma \hat{\eta} \rho as$, we find, in Luke i. 36, the syncopated form $\gamma \hat{\eta} \rho a$ (T. R.) or $\gamma \hat{\eta} \rho \epsilon \iota$ (Tisch.).

Rem. e. The linguals, τ , δ , θ , ζ , are always dropped before σ , κ , γ , χ . Hence $\beta \rho \omega \mu \alpha \sigma \omega$ for $\beta \rho \omega \mu \alpha \tau \sigma \omega$.

Rem. f. In the dative plural, the final ν is often dropped before a consonant.

They are all feminine excepting $\pi a \hat{s}$, $\pi o \dot{v}$ s, and drivis.

Rem b. In Rev. xx. 1, some MSS. have κλεῖν, instead of κλεῖδα, as the acc. sing. of κλείδ. In one or two instances we find the acc. pl. κλεῖδας syncopated into κλεῖδα.

^{*} Tisch, reads πιστεύετε.

Rem. c. In the N. T., the acc. sing. of $\xi \rho \iota s$ is only $\xi \rho \iota \nu$ (Phil. i. 15). Besides the regular nom. pl. $\xi \rho \iota \delta \epsilon s$, the syncopated form $\xi \rho \epsilon \iota s$ occurs in some texts, and the same form is used for the acc. pl. in Titus iii. 9.

\S 25. Nouns of the third declension with the genitive endings $\eta\tau$ 05, $\iota\tau$ 05, and $\omega\tau$ 05.

Rem. a. The corresponding nom. endings are ns, i or is, and ws.

Rem. b. Of the nouns belonging here, $\phi\hat{\omega}s$ and $\mu\hat{\epsilon}\lambda\iota$ are neuter and inflected like $\beta\rho\hat{\omega}\mu\alpha$ (§ 22): the rest are masculine (excepting $\chi\hat{\alpha}\rho\iota s$, $\hat{\epsilon}\sigma\theta\hat{\eta}s$ and abstracts in $-\sigma\tau\eta s$ and $-\nu\tau\eta s$), and are inflected like the examples in § 24.

Rem. c. We may also place here the neuter noun ovs (G. ἀτόs), which in the Doric dialect had the form &s.

Rem. d. The acc. sing. of χάρις is much oftener χάριν than χάριτα.

§ 26. Verbs in $-\omega$, in the infinitive, active.

Present. πιστεύειν, to believe. (1 Tim. i. 16.) Aorist. πιστεύσαι, to believe. (John v. 44.) Perfect. πεποιηκέναι, to have done. (John xii. 18.)

Rem. a. The modal distinction noticed in §1, Rem. a, and §5, Rem. a, between the present and agrist tenses, must be borne in mind with regard to the infinitive forms. In these tenses, the distinction of time, which is found in the indicative mode, ordinarily disappears in the infinitive.

Rem. b. When the time element is retained, the present infinitive may often be translated by the present indicative, and the agrist by the imperfect or pluperfect indicative preceded by that,

Rem. c. The perfect is equivalent sometimes to the perfect and sometimes to the pluperfect indicative preceded by that. Thus, in John xii. 18, the Greek idiom, heard him to have done, becomes, in good English, heard that he had done.

\S 27. Nouns of the third declension with the genitive endings $\varkappa os$, $\varkappa os$, $\varkappa os$, $\varkappa tos$, $\varkappa t$

Rem. a. The first four endings belong to nouns in $-\xi$, the last two to nouns in $-\psi$.

Rem. b. Two anomalous nouns may be placed here, $\gamma \nu \nu \dot{\eta}$ (G. $\gamma \dot{\nu} \nu a \iota \kappa \dot{o} s$ V. $\gamma \dot{\nu} \nu a \iota$) and $\gamma \dot{\alpha} \lambda a$ (G. $\gamma \dot{\alpha} \lambda a \kappa \tau o s$).

Rem. c. These nouns are all either masculine or feminine (with the exception of $\tau \delta \gamma \delta \lambda a$), and are inflected like the examples in § 24.

Rem. d. In ἀλώπηξ (G. ἀλώπεκος), ϵ is lengthened to η only in the nominative singular.

^{*} Mark xvi. 9-20 is not considered genuine by Tischendorf.

Rem. α . Participles have masc., fem. and neut. endings, and are inflected like nouns and adjectives. See § 61.

Rem. b. Although the agrist and perfect participles sometimes require the same translation, yet they are not identical in force, since the former describes an action as having occurred previously to, the latter as already completed at, the time of some other event.

Rem. b. ν is often dropped before σ , and if a following lingual has also been dropped (see § 22, Rem. e) the preceding vowel is generally lengthened. Thus we find $\alpha\rho\chi o \nu \sigma \omega \nu$ and not $\alpha\rho\chi o \nu \tau \sigma \omega \nu$.

τί διώκομαι; why am I persecuted? (Gal. v. 11.)
σὺ ἐπονομάζη, thou art named, or called. (Rom. ii. 17.)

^{*} As the G. of Σολομών, the T. R. has Σολομῶντος, but Tisch. usually Σολομῶνος.

πιστεύεται, it is believed, or, man believes. (Rom. x. 10.) ήμεις ἀνακρινόμεθα, we are examined. (Acts iv. 9.) ἄγεσθε, you are led. (Gal. v. 18.) ἄγονται, [they] are led. (Rom. viii. 14.)

Rem. a. The middle voice does not differ, in its forms, from the passive, except in the future and agrist tenses. In force, it is either reflexive, or denotes that the agent does something or causes something to be done for himself. Sometimes it seems to be simply equivalent to the active voice. For examples, see §§ 36 and 41.

Rem. b. If, in combining prepositions and verbs, two vowels come together, the preposition (unless it be $\pi\epsilon\rho t$ or $\pi\rho\delta$) loses its final vowel. Thus we find $\epsilon\pi$ oνομάζη and not $\epsilon\pi$ ονομάζη.

Rem. c. In the second pers. sing. the termination & is sometimes found.

A.	βασιλέα. (Matt. i. 6.)	βασιλείς. (Luke xxi. 12.)
V	Bugilen (Acts xxx 26)

Rem. a. Nouns with the genitive ending $\epsilon \omega s$ have as nominative endings avs (only vavs), ϵvs , ηs (only $M \omega \sigma \hat{\eta} s$), ι (only $\sigma \iota \nu a \pi \iota$), ιs , vs (only $\pi \hat{\eta} \chi vs$).

Rem. b. Those in -evs and -ns are masculine, those in -t neuter, and the rest (almost without exception) feminine.

Rem. c. Those in -avs, -is and -vs form the accusative in ν . Thus from $\nu a \dot{\nu} s$ we have the accusative $\nu a \hat{\nu} v$ (Acts xxvii. 41), from $\pi i \sigma \tau \iota s$ the A. $\pi i \sigma \tau \iota v$ (Matt. xvii. 20), from $\pi \hat{\eta} \chi v s$ the A. $\pi \hat{\iota}_i \chi v \nu$ (Matt. vi. 27).

Rem. d. $M\omega\sigma\hat{\eta}s$ (in most modern editions $M\omega\upsilon\sigma\hat{\eta}s$) has a D. in $-\hat{\eta}$ and an A. in $-\hat{\eta}\nu$, besides the regular forms.

Rem. e. In the printed editions, $\pi \dot{\eta} \chi \epsilon \omega \nu$ is contracted to $\pi \eta \chi \hat{\omega} \nu$; but some of the MSS. have the uncontracted form.

Rem. α. Whenever ν comes before a palatal, it is changed into γ . Thus in Acts xxiv. 4 we find $\dot{\epsilon}\gamma\kappa\delta\pi\tau\omega$ instead of $\dot{\epsilon}\nu\kappa\delta\pi\tau\omega$. The introduction of a vowel after the γ changes the consonant back to ν , as in $\dot{\epsilon}\nu\epsilon\kappa\sigma\pi\tau\dot{\epsilon}\mu\eta\nu$.

Rem. α . When two mutes come together, they must both be either smooth, middle, or rough, and the character of the second determines that of the first. Thus, in $\dot{\alpha}\chi\theta\dot{\eta}\sigma\epsilon\sigma\theta\epsilon$, the rough tense-characteristic θ necessitates the change of the middle mute γ into its corresponding rough. See p. 3, 4, Rem. c.

Rem. b. When τ , δ , θ , or ζ comes before τ , δ , θ , ζ , or μ , the former consonant is usually changed into σ . Thus instead of βασανιζθήσονται we have βασανισθήσονται.

See § 47, Rem. b.

Rem. b. In the neuters, the ending our has been contracted from ϵ os, ϵ t from ϵ i, and η from ϵ a. The G. pl. $-\epsilon$ ων is usually contracted to $-\omega$ ν, $\delta \rho \epsilon \omega \nu$ (Rev. vi. 15) and $\chi \epsilon \iota \lambda \epsilon \delta \nu$ (Heb. xiii. 15) being exceptions. Rem. a. If the root ends in a consonant, the third person plural is formed by combining the nominative plural of the perfect passive participle and the verb $\epsilon i\sigma i$, the third person plural of $\epsilon i\mu i$, to be.

Rem. b. Those verbs which insert σ before θ in the aor. pass. (see § 38) insert the same letter in the perf. pass. before such terminations as begin with μ or τ . On the reduplication in this tense see § 7.

Rem. c. The perfect tense, since it represents the result of a completed action as continuing in the present, must often be rendered into English by the present tense. In rare cases it is best translated by the imperfect.

§ 45. The inflection of adjectives, particularly those in -os, $-\eta$ or $-\alpha$, $-o\nu$ and those in -os, $-o\nu$.

Rem. α. A large number of adjectives have three forms, one for each gender. The feminine is always inflected like feminine nouns of the first declension (§§ 8, 10, 12, 14, 17): the masculine and neuter may be either of the second or third declension.

Rem. b. Adjectives of three terminations with the masculine in -os have the feminine in - α , if the root ends in a vowel other than o or in ρ .

Rem. c. Many adjectives make the masculine form do service for both the masculine and feminine genders. Some of these have also a neuter form, others not.

Rem. d. In the case of those adjectives with three forms which have the endings os (masc.), η or α (fem.), or (neut.), the masculine and neuter are inflected like $\check{\alpha}\nu\theta\rho\omega\pi$ os and $\check{\epsilon}\rho\gamma\sigma\nu$ (§ 19). In the same manner are inflected those adjectives which have only the two endings os (masc. and fem.) and or (neut.).

Rem. c. A few adjectives have the terminations ous, η , our, which have arisen by contraction from regular forms. Cf. § 19, Rem. c, d.

Rem. f. ίλεωs (found only in Matt. xvi. 22 and Heb. viii. 12) is an Attic nominative for ίλασς.

Rem. a. If the root ends in a consonant, the third person plural is formed by combining the nominative plural of the perfect passive participle with the verb $\hat{\eta}\sigma a\nu$, the imperfect of $\epsilon i\mu i$, to be.

Rem. b. As the perfect must often be translated by the present, so the pluperfect sometimes has the force of the English imperfect.

§47. Adjectives in -775, -85.

Rem. a. Next in number to the adjectives in -os, - η or -a, -ov, and -os, -ov, are those in - η s (masc. and fem.), -cs (neut.). About sixty of these are found in the New Testament.

Rem. b. Adjectives with these endings are inflected like nouns of the third declension with the G. ending our (§ 39), the masculine and feminine having the A. sing. in $-\eta$, the pl. N. in $-\epsilon\iota s$, G. $-\omega\nu$, D. $-\epsilon\sigma\iota$, A. $-\epsilon\iota s$.

§ 48. Adjectives in $-\omega\nu$, $-o\nu$.

Rem. a. There are several adjectives with these endings, the majority of them anomalous comparatives (\S 57, Rem. e, f).

Rem. b. They are inflected like nouns of the third declension with the G. ending ν os (§ 37, Rem. α , b), except in so far as the neuter is subject to the rule in § 19, Rem. e.

§ 50. Adjectives in $-v\varsigma$, $-\varepsilon\iota\alpha$, -v.

Rem. These adjectives, which are few in number, have their G. mase. and neut. in $-\epsilon os$, sometimes contracted into -ovs; otherwise they are inflected in these genders like nouns of the third declension in -vs, G. $-\epsilon ws$ (§ 31 and Rem. c). § 19, Rem. e, is to be borne in mind with regard to the N. and A. neut., the plural ending of which is $-\epsilon a$, sometimes contracted into $-\eta$.

$\S 51$. The adjective $\pi \tilde{\alpha} \varsigma$.

Rem. The nominative forms are $\pi \hat{a}s$, $\pi \hat{a}\sigma a$, $\pi \hat{a}\nu$. $\pi \hat{a}s$ and $\pi \hat{a}\nu$ are inflected like nouns of the third declension with the G. in $-a\nu\tau\sigma s$ (§ 29), except in so far as $\pi \hat{a}\nu$ is subject to the rule in § 19, Rem. e, which assimilates it in declension to $\beta\rho\hat{\omega}\mu a$ (§ 22).

§ 54. Verbs in - ω , in the agrist, subjunctive, middle.

τνα έγὼ καυχήσωμαι, that I may boast. (2 Cor. xi. 16.) δσα ἄν αἰτήση, whatsoever thou mayst ask. (John xi. 22.) δ ἀν αἰτήσηται, whatever she might ask. (Matt. xiv. 7.) ένδυσώμεθα, let us put on. (Rom. xiii. 12.) τί ἐνδύσησθε, what you shall put on. (Matt. vi. 25.) ἐνα αἰτήσωνται, that they should ask for. (Matt. xxvii. 20.)

§ 55. Adjectives not inflected like any of the preceding and of rare occurrence in the New Testament.

Rem. a. In Heb. vii. 3, and there only, we find ἀπάτωρ and ἀμήτωρ. Their inflection in classical Greek is like that of nouns of the third declension in $-\omega\rho$ G. $-o\rho$ os (§ 33 and Rem. a).

Rem. b. $\ddot{a}\rho\pi a\xi$ is inflected like nouns of the third declension with the G. ending γ os (§ 27, Rem. c).

Rem. c. $\pi \acute{e}r\eta s$ is found only in the D. pl. $\pi \acute{e}\nu \eta \sigma \omega$ (1 Cor. ix. 9), and is inflected like nouns of the third declension with the G. in $-\eta \tau os$ (§ 25 Rem. b).

^{*} The T. R. reads προεφήτευσαν.

Rem. d. $avr \delta \chi \epsilon \iota \rho$ is found only in the N. pl. (Acts xxvii. 19), and is inflected like $\chi \epsilon \iota \rho$ (§ 33).

Rem. e. τετράπουs is declinable in the masculine like πούs (§ 21), but in the N. T. occurs only in the neuter pl. τετράποδα G. -ων.

Rem. f. From $\nu\hat{\eta}\sigma\tau\iota s$ G. - ιos we have the A. pl. $\nu\hat{\eta}\sigma\tau\epsilon\iota s$ in two passages (Matt. xv. 32, Mark viii. 3), but no other forms are found.

Rem. g. ἄρσην and ἄρρην are inflected like nouns of the third declension in -ην G. -ενος (§ 37, Rem. a).

Rem. h. μέλας (Rev. vi. 5, 12) has the A. sing. fem. μέλαιναν (Matt. v. 36), but no other forms are found.

Rem. i. ἐκών (1 Cor. ix. 17) has a feminine ἐκοῦσα (Rom. viii. 20) but no other forms. ἄκων (for ἀέκων=α privative and ἐκών) occurs once (1 Cor. ix. 17).

Rem. j. 'E $\lambda\lambda\eta\nu$ is and $\pi\pi\tau\rho$ is are feminine and inflected like nouns of the third declension in -15 G, -150s (§ 24).

superlative degrees by dropping s and adding $\tau\epsilon\rho\sigma$ s, -a, -ov and $\tau\alpha\tau\sigma$ s, -a, -ov.

Rem. b. When the penult is short, adjectives in -os compared as above lengthen o to ω . Thus in 1 Cor. i. 25 we find $\sigma o \phi \dot{\omega} \tau \epsilon \rho o \nu$ and not $\sigma o \phi \dot{\omega} \tau \epsilon \rho o \nu$.

Rem. c. Adjectives in - η s shorten η into ϵ and add $\tau\epsilon\rho$ os, - α , -o ν and - $\tau\alpha\tau$ os, - α , -o ν .

Rem. d. Adjectives in $-\omega\nu$ shorten ω into σ and add $\epsilon\sigma\tau\epsilon\rho\sigma\sigma$, $-\alpha$, $-\sigma\nu$ and $\epsilon\sigma\tau\sigma\tau\sigma\sigma$, $-\alpha$, $-\sigma\nu$.

Rem. e. $\tau \alpha \chi \dot{\nu}s$ and $\kappa \alpha \lambda \dot{\nu}s$ take the endings $\iota \omega \nu$ and $\iota \sigma \tau os$, thus: $\tau \alpha \chi \dot{\nu}s$, $\tau \alpha \chi \iota \omega \tau os$; $\kappa \alpha \lambda \dot{\nu}s$, $\kappa \alpha \lambda \lambda \dot{\nu}s$, $[\kappa \dot{\alpha} \lambda \lambda \iota \sigma \tau os.]$

Rem. f. The following are anomalous: -

§ 61. The inflection of participles.

Rem. a. Those in -os are inflected like adjectives in -os, -a, -ov. See § 45, Rem. a, d.

Rem. b. Those in $-\omega\nu$ and $-\omega\nu$ shave their feminine in $-\omega\nu$ and their neuter in $-\omega\nu$. The masculine and neuter are declined like $\alpha\rho\chi\omega\nu$ (§ 29), except that the neuter is subject to the rule in § 19, Rem. e.

Rem. c. Those in -as, -ειs and -vs have their feminines in -asa -ειsa and -vsa and their neuters in -av, -εν and -vv. The masculines and neuters have their G. in -avros, -ενros and -vvros and are declined like ἄρχων (§ 29), except that the neuters are subject to the rule in § 19, Rem. e.

Rem. d. Those in $-\omega$ s have their feminine in $-\omega$ a and their neuter in $-\omega$ s. The masculine and neuter have their G. in $-\omega$ s and are declined similarly to the nouns in §§ 24 and 22. The only instance, among participles, of non-conformity to § 10, Rem. b, is $\sigma = \omega + \omega$ s, Acts v. 2.

§63. The personal pronouns.

Rem. a. There are, in strictness, but two personal pronouns in N. T. Greek, $\dot{\epsilon}\gamma\dot{\omega}$, I, and $\sigma\dot{\omega}$, thou, the place of the third being supplied (in the oblique cases, but seldom in the nominative) by the intensive $\alpha\dot{\omega}\tau\dot{\delta}s$, self.

Rem. b. $\dot{\epsilon}\gamma\dot{\omega}$ and $\sigma\dot{\nu}$ are inflected as follows:—

§ 65. The Reflexive pronouns.

Rem. α. These are three in number, ἐμαυτοῦ, of myself, σεαυτοῦ, of thyself, and ἐαυτοῦ, of himself.

Rem. b. They are found only in the oblique cases, and in N. T. Greek the first two occur only in the masculine singular, the place of their plurals being supplied by the plural of $\dot{\epsilon}avro\hat{v}$.

Rem. c. ἐαυτοῦ has both masculine and feminine forms in both numbers. It is occasionally used for σεαυτοῦ.

Rem. d. The reflexives are declined (with the limitations above mentioned) like the intensive across (see § 63, Rem. c).

Other contractions than these must be considered irregular.

Rem. b. The second person singular of the present indicative passive and middle sometimes ends in $\sigma a \iota$ instead of η .

§ 74. Liquid verbs.

Rem. a. Those are called liquid verbs which, ending in ω , have one of the liquids $(\lambda, \mu, \nu, \rho)$ as the last letter of the root.

Rem. b. More than two hundred of these, including compounds, are found in the N. T. The majority end in $\nu\omega$, while there are very few in $-\mu\omega$.

¹ When an attributive adjective stands after its noun, it regularly takes the article.

² See § 34, Rem. a.

³ The subjunctive is used in deliberative questions.

Rem. c. As a rule, these verbs do not have the tense characteristic (σ) in the future and agrist active and middle.

Rem. d. If the vowel before the liquid is long, in the future it is shortened, the diphthongs α_i and ϵ_i becoming $\check{\alpha}$ and ϵ respectively, and one λ in verbs in $-\lambda\lambda\omega$ being dropped.

Rem. e. In the agrist active the vowel before the liquid is uniformly long. If in the future it has been shortened (Rem. d), it is not always lengthened in the agrist to the form which it had in the present. The agrist and perfect passive and the perfect active retain the short vowel, although ϵ is often changed to α in verbs of two syllables.

Rem. f. In the future they are inflected like the present of contract verbs (see § 73), the ending $\hat{\omega}$ having apparently come from $-\epsilon\sigma\omega$ through the intermediate $-\epsilon\omega$. The fut. indic. act. endings in full are sing. $\hat{\omega}$, $\epsilon \hat{\imath}$, pl. $o\hat{\nu}_{\mu}\epsilon\nu$, $\epsilon\hat{\imath}\tau\epsilon$, $o\hat{\nu}\sigma\nu$.

Rem. g. The agrists active and middle are inflected regularly, except as above indicated.

Rem. h. Liquid and mute (and occasionally pure) verbs form the third person plural (and sometimes other persons both singular and plural) of the perf. and plup. pass. and mid. periphrastically, by prefixing, or else affixing, the N. of the perf. pass. part. to the pres. and imperf. tenses respectively of the verb εἰμί: e. g. γυναϊκές τωες αἴ ἡσαν τεθεραπευμέναι, certain women who had been healed. (Luke viii. 2.) Cf. § 44, Rem. a. and § 46, Rem. a.

XXXV.

§ 75. Duplicate or "second" tenses.

Rem. a. Sometimes in addition to certain of the regular tenses, but usually instead of them, many verbs have secondary forms.

Rem. b. The second agrist active ends in $o\nu$ and is inflected like the imperfect active (§ 3). A second agrist active in -a (called the Alexandrian agrist) is occasionally met with, and also the Alexandrian ending $o\sigma a\nu$ for $o\nu$ in the third person plural of the imperfect and second agrist active.

Rem. c. The second agrist passive ends in $\eta \nu$ and is inflected like the first agrist passive (§ 38).

Rem. d. The second agrist middle ends in $o\mu\eta\nu$ and is inflected like the imperfect passive and middle (§ 32).

Rem. e. The second perfect active ends in α and is inflected like the first perfect active (§ 7).

Rem. f. The second pluperfect active ends in ϵw and is inflected like the first pluperfect active (§ 9).

Rem. g. The second future passive ends in $\eta\sigma\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$ and is inflected like the first future passive (§ 34).

Rem. h. The other modes are formed regularly from the indicative, the second agrist active and middle following the analogy of the present active and middle.

Rem. i. The root to which the endings of the second tenses are affixed is frequently not the exact root of the present, but a simpler form. Thus the second agrist active of $\phi\epsilon\dot{\nu}\gamma\omega$ is not $\xi\phi\epsilon\nu\gamma\omega$ (which is the form of the imperfect) but $\xi\phi\nu\gamma\omega$ (Matt. xxvi. 56). Sometimes the roots are altogether unlike, as in $\tau\rho\dot{\epsilon}\chi\omega$ (1 Cor. ix. 26), 2 agr. $\xi\delta\rho\alpha\mu\omega$ (Matt. xxviii. 8).

§ 76. Verbs in -μι.

Rem. a. About one hundred of the N. T. verbs end in μ , a very large proportion of which, however, are compounds, many of them of rare occurrence.

Rem. b. Their stems end either in η , \bar{v} , or (in a single instance) ω , lengthened from ϵ or $\check{\alpha}$, \check{v} and o, which are preserved in many of the forms.

Rem. c. $\delta t \delta \omega \mu$ and several verbs in $-\eta \mu$ have a reduplicated stem in the present and imperfect.

Rem. d. In the present, imperfect, and second acrist, the inflection of verbs in $-\mu$ is generally anomalous, chiefly from the absence of connecting vowels in the endings. Thus we have $\ell\theta \epsilon \nu \tau o$ (Acts v. 18) and not $\ell\theta \epsilon \nu \tau o$ as the 2 acr. mid. of $\tau \ell\theta \eta \mu \iota$. Such forms of these tenses as occur in the New Testament are given in the following sections.

Rem. e. Some verbs in $-\omega$ form the second agrist after the analogy of verbs in $-\mu$.

§ 82. Rules of Syntax.

- I. A neuter plural may be the subject of a singular verb.
- II. Verbs implying separation and source are followed by the genitive.
- III. All words expressing or implying a part or action upon a part of anything are followed by a genitive of the whole.
- IV. The genitive (and sometimes the dative) is used to denote possession.
 - V. Verbs of sense, except those of sight, may govern the genitive.
 - VI. Many verbs denoting operations of the mind govern the genitive.
- VII. Verbs of accusing, convicting, etc., are followed by a genitive of the person and an accusative of the crime.
 - VIII. Certain verbs implying a noun govern the genitive.
 - IX. Words signifying plenty and want are followed by the genitive.
 - X. The price of a thing is put in the genitive.
- XI. A noun or a pronoun and a participle may stand in the genitive, to denote the time or some other circumstance of an action. This is called the genitive absolute.
- XII. The genitive of the neuter article with an infinitive is often used to denote purpose.
- XIII. The comparative degree usually governs the genitive, except when followed by 1/2.
- XIV. The instrument with which and the means by which anything is done are put in the dative.

XV. A noun used to denote the mode or manner of an action is put in the dative, with or without a preposition.

XVI. The dative is used to denote that with reference to which, in accordance with which, or on account of which, something is or takes place.

XVII. Words denoting likeness or similarity are followed by the dative.

XVIII. The dative is used with comparatives and verbs implying comparison, to indicate to what extent one thing exceeds or falls short of another.

XIX. Verbs signifying to contend with, to use, and sometimes those of participating in, are followed by the dative.

XX. The dative is sometimes used after passive verbs to denote the agent.

XXI. The dative (very rarely the genitive) is used to denote the time at which (sometimes during which) a thing takes place, and occasionally the place where.

XXII. An accusative case may be the subject of an infinitive.

XXIII. Many verbs are followed by an accusative of kindred signification.

XXIV. Some verbs take two accusatives, one of the person and the other of the thing.

XXV. Duration of time and extent of space are put in the accusative.

The Set in two volumes, black cloth, bevelled edges,

8.00

"We would recommend all scholars of the original Scriptures who seek directness, luminous brevity, the absence of everything irrelevant to strict grammatical inquiry, with a concise and yet very complete view of the opinions of others, to possess themselves of Ellicott's Commentaries."

—American Presbyterian.

"His Commentaries are among the best, if not the very best, helps a student can have."— American Presbyterian and Theological Review.

"Ellicott is one of the best commentators of this class."—Princeton Rev.

"I do not know of anything superior to them in their own particular line." — Dean Alford.

Hackett. A Commentary on the Original Text of the * Acts of the Apostles. By Horatio B. Hackett, D.D., Professor of Biblical Literature in Newton Theological Institution. A new edition, revised and greatly enlarged. 8vo. Cloth, $3.50

This is a reprint of the last edition revised by Prof. Hackett himself.

Lightfoot. St. Paul's Epistle to the Galatians. A Revised Text, with Introduction, Notes, and Dissertations. By J. B. Lightfoot, D.D., Hulsean Professor of Divinity, and Fellow of Trinity College Cambridge. 8vo. pp. 402. Revelled edges, $3.00

"Taken as a whole, we venture to say that this is the most complete and exhaustive Commentary on the Epistle to the Galatians that has yet appeared, Ellicott's not excepte 1." — Christian Intelligencer.

Henderson. Commentaries, Critical, Philological, and Exegetical, viz. on

The Book of the Twelve Minor Prophets. Translated from the Original Hebrew. By E. Henderson, D.D. With a Biographical Sketch of the Author, by E. P. Barrows, Hitchcock Professor in Andover Theol. Sem. 8vo. $3.50

"The work is invaluable for its philological research and critical acumen. The notes are learned, reliable, and practical."—American Presbyterian, etc.

"This is probably the best commentary extant on the Minor Prophets."

— Christian Chronicle.

"It is altogether the best commentary in existence on the Minor Prophets." - Religious Union.

"The Minor Prophets is a valuable book. Dr. Henderson is very careful to avoid fanciful interpretations—at least this is his canon, and there is much good sense shown everywhere."—Presbyterian Quarterly.

"We have met with no so satisfactory a commentary on this part of the prophetic Scripture." — Watchman and Reflector.

"The only satisfactory commentary on the Minor Prophets we know of in the English language."—Episcopal Recorder.

"Dr. Henderson's commentaries are rich in wholesome and true exposition."—Presbyterian Magazine.

"The notes are replete with the fruits of varied learning."—The Presbyterian.

Jeremiah and Lamentations. Translated from the original Hebrew. 8vo. $2.50

"Whatever surrounds the reader with the national life of the Hebrews enables him to understand the sacred writers. In addition, the critical student needs exegetical helps in catching the sense of the author. Dr. Henderson has undertaken to meet these wants to a considerable extent, and has succeeded well. Those ministers who are in the habit of giving brief expositions of the prophetic writing will find great assistance from this volume,"—Congregational Review.

"It is a scholarly and devout analysis of the saddest of the prophets-It is a valuable contribution to our biblical literature"—Zion's Herald

"This admirable commentary meets a want long felt by biblical students. Those acquainted with Dr. Henderson's work on the Minor Prophets need scarcely be told of the ability and learning and piety which characterize this volume."—Protestant Churchman.

Ezekiel. Translated from the original Hebrew. 8vo. pp. 228. Cloth, $2.00

"The same diligence, learning, sobriety, and judiciousness characterize it as the learned author's commentaries on Isaiah, Jeremiah, and the Minor Prophets."—Bibliotheca Sacra.

"He is throughout reverent and modest, yet scholarly and wonderfully clear. We know of no better interpreter of Ezekiel than Dr. Henderson." — Watchman and Reflector.

Murphy. Critical and Exegetical Commentaries by Prof. James G. Murphy, LL.D., T.C.D., viz.

Genesis. With a New Translation. With a Preface by J. P. THOMPSON, D.D., New York. 8vo. pp. 535. $3.50

"The most valuable contribution that has for a long time been made to the many aids for the critical study of the Old Testament is Mr. Draper's republication of Dr. Murphy on Genesis, in one octavo volume. Dr. Murphy is one of the Professors of the Assembly's College at Belfast, and adds to a thorough knowledge of the Hebrew, and of the science of interpretation, great common sense, genuine wit, and admirable power of expression. Hence his Commentary is racy and readable, as well as reliable. No volume will be more useful to those who have been troubled by the Colenso criticisms; and no man has pricked the bubble of that inflated bishop with a more effectual and relieving wound than Dr.Murphy."

— Congregationalist.

"Dr. Murphy is a fair, clear, and candid interpreter. His aim is to reconcile the Scriptures with science by an impartial examination of the text." - American Presbyterian and Theological Review.

Exodus. With a New Translation. 8vo. pp. 385. $3.00

"Thus far nothing has appeared in this country for half a century on the first two books of the Pentateuch so valuable as the present two volumes." [On Genesis and Exodus]. "His style is lucid, animated, and often eloquent. His pages afford golden suggestions and key-thoughts..... Some of the laws of interpretation are stated with so fresh and natural a clearness and force that they will permanently stand."—Methodist Quarterly.

"Prof. Murphy's Commentary on Genesis has been published long enough to have secured the highest reputation for scholarship, research, and sound judgment. This volume on Exodus takes its place in the same rank, and will increase rather than diminish its author's reputation among scholars." - National Baptist.

"By its originality and critical accuracy it must command the high regard of the scholar and theologian, whilst the ease and grace of its style, the judiciousness with which it selects and unfolds its many subjects of discussion, will be sure to fix and reward the attention of the general student."—The Lutherun.

Leviticus. With a New Translation. 8vo. pp. 318. $2.50

"In our opinion, his idea and method are the right one, and the whole work shows a remarkably clear mastery of the subject. His style, too, is singularly lucid. He interprets Hebrew well, and writes capital English. The book meets a long-felt want, and meets it well."—The Advance.

"The obscure and difficult portions of the text are elucidated with great skill and impressiveness, and the whole work furnishes a most interesting study."—The Lutheran and Missionary.

"The Commentaries of Murphy have many excellences. They are clear, discriminating, and comprehensive."—Baptist Quarterly.

"We think it is the very best Commentary on Leviticus that has ever been published."—The Presbyterian.

"We know of no work on Leviticus comparable with it." - Pulpit and Pew.

Psalms. With a new Translation. By J. G. Murphy, $4.00

"This Commentary is well fitted to meet the wants of pastors in preparing their expositions of the Psalms. The more educated teachers of Bible-classes and Sabbath-schools may study it with advantage. They need not be deterred from using it by the presence of the Hebrew words which are conspicuous on some of its pages. Like the other Commentaries of Dr. Murphy, this is distinguished by the ease and perspicuity of its style, its freedom from pedantry, and the excellent religious spirit pervading it. The Introduction, occupying the first fifty pages, is lucid and interesting." — Bibliotheca Sacra.

"It is on the whole one of the best expositions of the Psalms accessible for popular instruction, and a valuable auxiliary to the work of preachers and teachers."—Examiner and Chronicle.

Perowne. The Book of Psalms; a New Translation. With Introductions and Notes Explanatory and Critical. By J. J. Stewart Perowne, D.D., Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, and Canon of Llandaff. Reprinted from the Third English Edition. In Two Volumes. 8vo. $7.50

"It comprises in itself more excellences than any other commentary on the Psalms in our language, and we know of no single commentary in the German language which, all things considered, is preferable to it." — Baptist Quarterly.

"Very rare, indeed, is it that such a combination of requisites to a just exposition of Scripture, and particularly of this portion of Scripture, are combined in one work, — such scholarship, such judgment, such taste, such spiritual insight, such wisdom in the general treatment of his subject, such skill as a translator, such simplicity and sustained vigor of style." — The Advance.

"This is justly regarded as the standard commentary on the Book of Psalms in England. It is learned, devout, and exhaustive. . . . Dr. Perowne is one of the most profound Hebrew scholars in Europe, and his translation of the Hebrew text gives abundant evidence of his learning."

— Latheran Observer.

"The Introductions combine a series of able essays upon the structure, history, literature, and theology of the Psalms. The new translation adheres closely to the Hebrew original. The critical notes evince great biblical learning, rigid fidelity in the use of the Hebrew dictionary and grammar, and a reigning principle of arriving at the exact meaning of every word, rather than to give an elegant or metrical style to the rendering. Its practical reflections are select and pointed. Dr. Perowne does not evade difficulties, as do some commentators, and where his conclusions are not satisfactory to the student, he will, at least, have the assurance of honest dealing with the embarrassments of all interpreters."— Christian Intellagencer.

"If there is a better exposition of the Psalms in the English language we do not know what it is. The Introduction and Notes are models in their kind. Probably no one in England is more capable than Professor Perowne of doing all that Hebrew scholarship can do towards a better knowledge of the Psalms." - The Contributor.

An Examination of the Alleged Discrepancies of the Bible. By John W. Haley, M.A. With an Introduction by Alvah Hovey, D.D., Professor in the Newton Theological Institution. Crown 8vo. pp. xii and 473. $2.00

"I do not know any volume which gives to the English reader such a compressed amount of suggestion and instruction on this theme as is given in this volume."—Prof. Edwards A. Park.

"A book so costly in great qualities, yet so cheap and accessible to all; one so scholarly and yet so simple and usable; one so creditable to its author, and yet so modestly sent forth, does not every day appear. As an example of thorough and painstaking scholarship, as a serviceable handbook for all Bible students, and as a popular defence of revealed truth, it will take high rank, and fill an important place which up to this time has been conspicuously vacant." — Congregationalist.

- A Statement of the Natural Sources of Theology; with a Discussion of their Validity, and of Modern Sceptical Objections; to which is added an Article on the First Chapter of Genesis. By Thomas Hill, D.D., LL.D. Reprinted from the Bibliotheca Sacra. 8vo. pp. 144. Paper, 60 cts.; Cloth, flexible,
- CONTENTS. Theology a Possible Science. The Foundations of Theology sure. The Natural Foundations of Theology. The Testimony of Organic Life. The Natural Sources of Theology. The First Chapter of Genesis.
- "Powerful discussions, rich in thought and illustration, and directed with crushing force against the positions of infidel scientists."—Advance.
 "A masterly series of articles."—National Baptist.
- Hermeneutics of the New Testament. By Dr. A. Immer, Professor of Theology in the University of Berne. Translated from the German by Rev. Albert H. Newman. With additional Notes and full Indexes. Crown 8vo. pp. 413. $2.25
- "It is a thoroughly scientific and almost exhaustive treatise on the whole subject. It is in three parts: I. The General Principles of Hermeneutics; II. The Single Operations of the Scripture Interpreter; III. The Religious Understanding. The elaborate history of Scripture interpretation and the several methods of excessis that have from time to time been employed, constitute a very important portion of the work... We heartily commend it to our young ministers in particular, in the belief that in mastering it they will greatly enrich their teachings of the sacred word."—Methodist Quarterly Review.

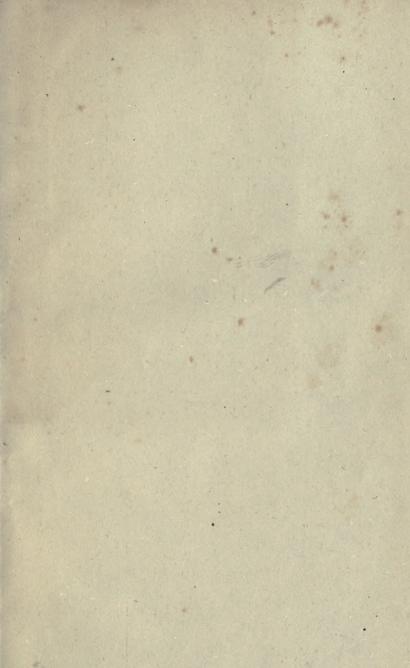

"Perfect in method, thorough, and truly German in its scholarship, yet fresh and interesting in its treatment, and translated in a clear and attractive English style, it will meet a real need of theological students and ministers, and must stimulate a scholarly study on the part of such."
